Colonel Clark E. Carr, of Illinois, will speak as follows:
At Madison, Monday, Sept. 27.
At Beloit, Tuesday, Sept. 28.
At Janesville, Wednesday, Sept. 29.
At Watertown, Thursday, Sept. 30.

The Wisconsin Democratic State committee has not yet heard of any campaign. It won't want to hear of any, either.

The moonshiners in the South are running the Congressional campaign there for the Democrats. They want free whiskey, and plenty of it.

General Weaver, the Greenback candidate for President, says the Republicans and the Democratic parties should be killed, and that the Democratic party should be killed first.

Colonel Robert G. Ingersoll will make his first political speech in the West in this canvass in Illinois next week. He will come to Wisconsin early in October, and will speak in Milwaukee and two or three other places.

The Hon. J. C. Gregory, of Madison, has been nominated for Congress by the Democrats of the Second district. Mr. Gregory is a fine gentleman and a respectable citizen, and why his political friends should serve him thus, is surprising.

Two of the greatest moral shows of the campaign are Doellittle and Trumbull. Their records became unworthy of the Republican party to which they once belonged, and they went into the Democratic party where such records are condoned.

A dispatch has been sent to the papers to the effect that before Senator Angus Cameron left for California, he wrote a private letter to ex-Congressman Jerry Rusk stating that he was not a candidate for re-election to the United States. It is reported that he wrote the letter after having given the subject thoughtful attention, and even does not consider himself a dark horse in the race.

Some Democrats are becoming alarmed over Hancock's too great haste in writing letters and sending congratulatory dispatches. The Philadelphia Times, Democratic, makes this suggestion: "General Hancock can afford to let these weak minds go on telegraphing him anything they please, but he cannot afford to go on telegraphing to them. No candidate for the Presidency ever did himself any service with too much pen and ink."

Congressman Williams will make a speech at the great mass meeting at Green Lake, on Friday, when Governor Smith, State Treasurer Guenther, Colonel Keyes, and others are advertised to speak. Mr. Williams will return in time to speak here on Saturday evening. He then goes North, to fill public engagements, and from this time till the canvass closes his time will be fully occupied. His services on the stump are recognized as a power, and for that reason the Republican State committee propose to keep him at work.

The men of 1852 knew the dangers from sad experience in our history; and like Ulysses, lashed themselves to the mast of public credit when they embarked upon the stormy and boisterous sea of inflated paper money, that they might not be beguiled by the siren-song that would be sung to them when they were aloft on the wild waves.—James A. Garfield.

The Greenback victory in Maine is a "glorious result," and gives our friends confidence and hope.—Wingfield S. Hancock.

There is no hope for the Democrats of Maine in November. Their scheme to secure three electoral votes by compromising with the Greenbackers will fail. The straight-out Greenbackers headed by Solon Chase, have put up a Simon pure Greenback electoral ticket which will cut its votes for Weaver and Chambers. This will so divide the Greenbackers that State that the Republicans will carry the State by a handsome majority. General Weaver does not favor any compromise with the Democrats whatever. After going South he made up his mind that that party should be killed, and that as quickly as possible.

The United States government draws a large revenue from whisky and tobacco. The system of internal taxation which places the heaviest burdens on these articles is a wise one. But the taxes on whisky and tobacco are unpopular in the South, and every Southern candidate for Congress has pledged himself as hostile to such a tax, and will vote for its repeal, and the Northern Democratic members or a majority of them, will vote to place whisky and tobacco along side tea and coffee. Should the tax be taken off whisky and tobacco, something else would have to be taxed to make up the loss, and then the burden to the productive energies of the people would be increased.

There is a remarkable difference between the plans on which the postoffices in the United States and in England are managed. There are 42,989 postoffices in this country, and only 13,912 in England. The net revenue of the English offices in 1879 was nearly 15 million dollars, while the deficit in this country was a little over three millions. The gross expenditures in England were 16 million dollars in round numbers, and in the United States they were very nearly 34 millions. The gross revenue in England from the postoffice department was 40 million dollars, but in the United States, with three times the number of postoffices that England has, our gross revenue was only a little over 30 millions. Aside from the regular postoffice business, the offices in England do a savings bank and postal telegraph business which adds materially to the cost of running the offices. Among the nearly three million letters which passed through our dead letter office there were found in them checks, drafts, and money amounting to $1,000,000.

WOULD A "CHANGE" BENEFIT THE COUNTRY?

The Democrats have not yet shown wherein the election of General Hancock would benefit the country. They can give no satisfactory answer to the question, "Why should the Democrats control the government?" But there are a multitude of reasons why the government should not be permitted to pass into the hands of the Democrats. We find among the business men of the country an unwillingness to trust the Democrats with the control of the finance. We find that merchants, manufacturers, and in fact a large majority of the substantial business men of nearly all classes, are saying more in this campaign than they ever said before, and are taking an unusual interest in the success of the Republican ticket.

It is not to be wondered at that business men should take an unusual interest in the Presidential canvass. They are well satisfied with the present condition of things. There is to-day, in commercial and manufacturing circles, a better state of affairs, and more confidence and hope, than have existed at any time since the war. Laboring men are employed at wages having greater purchasing power than for the past twenty years. The currency question is settled. No human power can make it better. Interest is reasonable. The government is economically administered, and all is going well. These conditions of things have been brought about by the Republican administrations, despite Democratic opposition. There is another thing which influences business men, farmers, and mechanics to support the National Republican ticket. The record of General Garfield for the past twenty years fills a bright page in American history. On all questions, however important they have been, he has taken a statesman-like and commanding position. But General Hancock has no civil record for which a good word can be spoken; but on the other hand, when a policy of fatism and inflation had seemed to succeed in Maine—a policy which carried out in all the States would prove a sudden and complete ruin of all the business interests of the country—he hastened with a dispatch rejoicing over the "glorious result" in Maine!

With a man like this in the Presidential chair it is idle to predict what would happen. It is out of the power of the greatest political philosopher to tell the extent of the disaster which such a man and such a positively bad party as he belongs to, will bring upon the country. The party nor its leaders have shown any disposition to change its record. The memories of the rebellion weigh the party down, but it might overcome all this were it able to give the country any assurance that it would protect the business interests of the country and see to it that every voter in the South was protected in his right to vote as he pleases and that his vote be counted just as he cast it. But the Democrats from the highest to the second rate worker in the party, will not give the business men nor the tax-payers the least encouragement. They will not attempt to debate the currency, destroy public credit, cripple manufacturing, shut up the banks, and play the mischief generally with the present satisfactory condition of affairs. The whole history of the party shows that it is not to be trusted with power. It has never yet failed to improve the opportunity to espouse wild financial theories; and it is strange that after it got beaten in the war, it went to work to organize a scheme to prevent the government from dealing honorably with its creditors. It wanted the government to adopt a measure which would enable it to cheat those who bought bonds for the purpose of helping the administration to carry on the war to put down rebellion; and from that day to this they have been chasing after false goals. When these treacherous principles were thought successful in Maine by the combined efforts of the inflationists and Democrats, the great Democratic leader, the exponent of Democratic principles, as late as the 14th of September, 1880, pronounced the result a "glorious" one, and would give encouragement to the Democrats!

These facts show what tremendous risks there are at stake in this canvass. They sometimes stagger thoughtful and shrewd business men. With such a party in power, there would be no hope of maintaining the present business prospects. There would be no hope of reducing government expenses. There would be no hope of fair dealing in the South. In short there would be no hope of anything that would be flattering to the business interests of the country.

There was a large attendance on the grounds to-day, and everybody was well satisfied with the exhibition. The addresses will be delivered to-morrow at 1 o'clock by E. W. Keyes, of Madison.

CONKLING'S SPEECH.

The New York "Herald" Declares it to be the Republican Keynote.

New York, Sept. 22.—The Herald this morning says: "It is but a few days since the Republican canvass was formally opened by the remarkable speech of Senator Conkling in this city. That speech for the first time developed the Republican plan of the campaign. Mr. Conkling is the real, and we do not go to far when we say he is the only leader of his party. It has no other public man with his vigor of intellect, force of will, skill in political management, and ability to carry with him others who aspire to a share of leadership. He is the master, the controlling spirit of the party. His policy has gained its secret, namely, since the Convention adjourned, and his recent speech was an anxious wait for the party orators and organs to give them the cue. Take a true leader Mr. Conkling gave the leadership sound, and his fierce and bitter denunciation of the South as unprincipled in its motives and dangerous in its tendencies has been accepted at once by his party everywhere as the real Republican platform. This speech, of which a quarter of a million of copies are now being circulated all over the North, doubtless carries off and things away any possible Southern help for the Republicans. Whether the Solid South be wise or unwise as a practical political policy, Mr. Conkling has forced it to remain solidly opposed to Republican ascendancy. The first day of the Herald is to accept facts, and Mr. Conkling's powerful speech has made a Solid South a fact. On that question his utterance is a finality. As the master and ruling spirit of his party, he has contemptuously rejected for any alliance or aid from the South, and we can not choose to waste space in further arguments about a matter which is settled."

INGERSOLL AT ROCKFORD.

Great Preparations for the Republican Mass Meeting at Rockford.

Rockford, Sept. 22.—Colonel Robert G. Ingersoll will deliver his first campaign speech in Illinois at the fair ground in this city next Tuesday. Great preparations are being made for the event, and an estimated audience of 5,000 is expected. Ingersoll will be accompanied by the Frank Lombard Glee Club.

THE FIGURES.

The Result of an Investigation into the Financial Condition of the South.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—The result of an investigation into the financial condition of the Southern States was published in these dispatches some time ago, showing the repudiation of the Southern State debts amounted to some $126,000,000. Later inquiries show that this figure was short of the actual fact, disheartening as it appeared, and it now is shown that the sum reaches $169,000,000. This omits the States of Virginia and Tennessee owing to the doubt existing yet as to how they will finally settle their debts.

AVERAGE PRICE.

The Average Price of Southern and Northern Securities.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—An investigation has been made of the amount and price of State securities from 1841 to the present time, and some startling conclusions are shown. It appears that from the market reports that the quotations of Southern bonds show that the average price for the forty years is below 50 per cent, while for the same period the bonds of the Northern States average above par. It is a curious coincidence that the average price for the Northern and New England States is exactly the same, being a little over 100 per cent.

THE NEXT ELECTION.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—The Maine election has not been an ill wind to the Republicans. Reports received here from the National Republican Committee show that the result in Maine has greatly interested some of the leading business men in New York, and that large contributions of money have within a few days been offered to the Republican campaign fund.

INDIANA.

Colonel Ingersoll Wakes up the Hoosiers at Lafayette.

LAFAYETTE, Sept. 22.—Colonel Robert G. Ingersoll addressed a mass meeting of our citizens this evening in the Court House square. The weather was rather cool for an out-door meeting, but it was deemed inexpedient to go to the opera house, as it would be inadequate to accommodate the fourth part of those desiring to hear the gifted speaker on the issues of the day. In addition to the ordinary seats surrounding the stand, 500 additional chairs were provided, notwithstanding which long before the hour specified every seat was occupied, and standing room for as many more was at a premium. His audience, estimated by competent judges, is put at 5,000 persons. A large and imposing parade of Garfield Guards, the Lincoln Club, and citizens generally, headed by a fine cornet band, escorted duty, and added much to the brilliant pageant. The appearance of Colonel Ingersoll was the signal for a wild burst of applause, a well-merited compliment to the great orator and the cause he advocated. His text was: "Why Am I a Republican?" and most conclusively did he answer the question. He held his audience spellbound with his ponderous arguments, seasoned with sparkling wit and cutting satire, and in a masterful elucidation of Republican sentiments sustained himself as the champion speaker of the campaign. Nothing was wanting in sound logic or brilliant rhetoric to maintain the great principles that underlie our government, and to strike terror and destruction to its enemies and their aiders and abettors in treasonable work. Tremendous applause was frequently given when the popular heart was touched by his patriotic sentences.

MILWAUKEE COUNTY.

The Nominations of the Republicans for County Officers.

MILWAUKEE, Sept. 22.—The Republicans in county convention this afternoon nominated the following ticket: For clerk of court, Julius Wechselberg; sheriff, John E. Eldred; district attorney, W. C. Williams; treasurer, Leonard Ellis; clerk, Theodore O. Hartman; register of deeds, Emil Weisskirch; surveyor, E. C. Reichenauer; coroner, W. W. Hildman; John Rugee withdrew his name as candidate for sheriff, leaving the field open to Eldred and John W. Dunlap.

CRIMINAL CARELESSNESS.

BELLEVILLE, Sept. 22.—A daughter of J. M. Cobb and a daughter of Peter Vosseler, both girls being about 12 years of age, going from school to their homes in the outskirts of the city, encountered several boys, one of whom, to frighten the girls, pointed a gun at them. The gun was discharged and its contents received full in the faces of the girls. Miss Cobb's face was terribly lacerated, and both eyes seriously injured. Dr. Strong, who attended the girls, who will have one eye, Miss Vosseler was struck in the side of face, and suffered quite severely. The distressing occurrence creates intense indignation in the community.

COLE-CASWELL.

WATERTOWN, Sept. 22.—The nuptials of Guy L. Cole, son of the late General L. A. Cole, of this city, and Miss Belle Caswell, eldest daughter of Hon. L. B. Caswell, member of Congress from this district, were celebrated at the home of the bride's parents in the city of Fort Atkinson this morning in the presence of the relatives of both contracting parties and a large number of friends. The newly married pair have the best wishes of a large number of acquaintances for a happy and pleasant journey through life and a future that may be strewn with heaven's choicest blessings. The happy couple will make Denver, Colorado, their future home.

THE VAN KIRK TRIAL.

MILWAUKEE, Sept. 22.—The trial of Mrs. Mary VanKirk for the murder of her stepmother and brother proceeded to-day. The testimony is conclusive that they died from poisoning, and the object of the prosecution is to show that they were principally fed by Mrs. VanKirk and that she had a pecuniary object in taking their lives. The testimony for the State will be all presented to-morrow. The defense will endeavor to prove that various other persons administered medicine to the victims.

NOT HEARD FROM.

Kewaunee, Sept. 22.—Governor Smith has appointed R. L. Wing, of this village, District Attorney in place of Chapman, absconded. The missing bigamist has not been heard from. His wife and family here will soon go to Kansas to her relatives.

DEADLY ASSAULT.

ELKHORN, Sept. 22.—At dusk last evening a quarrel originated in the town of Lynn, between S. J. Nichols, a farmer, and a laborer in his employ, by the name of Dan O'Brien, who made a deadly assault upon Nichols with a pitchfork, inflicting frightful injuries, for which offense he was committed to jail here, to-day, to await trial before the circuit court which convenes on Monday.

How They Feel at Adrian, Mich.

Reed, Beach & Smith, druggists of this city, say that Dr. Wm. K. Kirtley has given the best of satisfaction. One of their customers says he would not take two hundred dollars for the one he has if he could not get another.

ABOUT PROSPERITY.

What the Republicans Have Done Despite the Democrats—A Grand Achievement.

From Senator Conkling's Speech. Meanwhile, the world seeing that we meant to be honest after all, notwithstanding repudiation at the South and threats in the North, and vicious declarations in national conventions, it became easy to negotiate 4 1/2 and 4 per cent. bonds at par and above par. This was done, and the debt has melted away at the rate of $2,000,000 a month; the interest charge has been reduced one-half, and when the bonds of high interest rate still outstanding fall due, in 1881 and afterward, they also will be replaced by 4 or 4 1/2 per cent. bonds, and then the interest charge will fall much lower still. "This all looks pretty well—very well, by the side of the exploits of the last Democratic Administration—Mr. Buchanan's—which increased the debt tenfold in time of peace, paid 12 per cent. interest on Treasury notes, and sold 6 per cent. 20-year bonds for 80 cents on the dollar. It is well to add that during the last five years of their Congressional control the Republicans dismissed one hundred and twenty millions of annual taxes, thirty-one millions of tariff duties, and eighty-nine millions of internal revenue. I hold up the record since 1861, when the Republican administration of the country, and I say that the Democratic party has been wrong and beaten on all great issues of the century."

A triumphant Nationality—a regenerated Constitution—a free Republic—an unbroken country—unimpaired credit—sound finances—unparalleled prosperity—all these are ours, despite the policy and the efforts of the Democratic party.

Along with the amazing improvement in National finances, we have amazing individual thrift on every side. In every walk of life new activity is felt. Labor, agriculture, manufactures, commerce, enterprise, and investment, all are flourishing, content, and hopeful. But in the midst of this harmony and encouragement comes a harsh discord crying, "Give us a change—anything for a change." Every other crop is good, but the crop of the change is bad. The country does not need or wish the change proposed, and the pressing invitation of our Democratic friends is much like "Will you walk into my parlor? said the spider to the fly." A good natured but firm "No, I thank you," will be the response at the polls.

The candidates we support, besides being Republican, are largely fitted for the stations which await them.

Some service with them in Congress has made me well acquainted with General Garfield. That he has the intelligence, experience, and habits of mind which fit a man for the Presidential office, I think I know. Without early advancement, he, years ago, achieved prominence among the leading men in public life, and that prominence he has maintained ever since in all the collisions between individuals and parties. That he is competent to the duties before him, there seems to me no reason to doubt.

Of General Arthur it seems needless here to speak. Most of you know him, and all who know him know a high-souled, honorable man—honorable in every position in which he ever stood—a man to be trusted in every relation of life. If the character, the popularity, and personality of a candidate can add strength to the Republican cause, General Arthur will add strength wherever he is known, and most where he is best known.

Upon its record and its candidates the Republican party asks the country's approval, and stands ready to avow its purpose for the future. It proposes to rebuild our commercial marine, driven from the seas by Confederate cruisers, aided and abetted by foreign hostility. It proposes to foster labor, industry, and enterprise. It proposes to stand for education, humanity and progress. It proposes to administer the Government honestly, to propose amnesty with all the world, observing our own obligations with others and seeing that others observe theirs with us, to protect every citizen to the fullest extent of the law, his rights and before the law, including his right to vote and to be counted, to uphold the public credit and the sanctity of engagements; and by doing these things, the Republican party proposes to assure to industry, humanity, and civilization in America the amplest welcome and the safest home.

The Grand Central Hotel, 687 Broadway, New York City, is the best kept $3.00 a day house in America. Make a note of this, so that when you visit New York you will know where to stop.

REPUBLICAN RALLY.

Congressman Williams to Address the People of Janesville Next Saturday Evening.

Arrangements have been made for a Republican rally at Lippin's hall, next Saturday evening, at which time and place Hon. Charles G. Williams will address the people on the political issues of the day. Good music will be provided and a good time for all. Every voter should be there to hear a fair honest statement of the record and claims of the Republican party, and the name and fame of the speaker should cause the hall to be packed with eager listeners. Let the rally next Saturday night be an enthusiastic one.

BRIEFLETS.

—Night for prayers.

—Sprague's Minstrels to-morrow night.

—Beloit folk had "Humpty Dumpty" last night.

—Congressman Williams speaks at the Opera house Saturday night.

—John DeFrel was today fined $2 for using abusive language to a woman.

—Prof. Silsbee took the first premium on penmanship at the State fair and Jefferson county fair.

—Arrangements are being made for holding a children's service at Trinity Episcopal church, next Sunday morning.

—The funeral services of Mrs. Holloway will be held to-morrow morning at the residence at 10 o'clock. Rev. T. P. Sawin will officiate.

—Mrs. Wiley, while in her yard this morning picking up apples, was run against by a large dog, and fell, breaking both bones of her left forearm.

—This morning a little son of Oliver Knudson, of the First ward, tipped over upon himself a kettle of hot water, which caused an unpleasant scald, but it is thought no very serious results will follow.

—Those who desire to become honorary members of the Guards, can do so by handing $5 each and their names to Colonel Britton. This will entitle them to the privilege of taking the Atlanta trip at the reduced rates.

—To-night there is to be an important meeting of the Garfield and Arthur club, at their rooms at 8 o'clock, and all enrolled members and all those who want their names placed upon the rolls are urged to be present. Let the attendance be large, as there are matters to be considered, which every Republican worker should be present to hear about.

—At a meeting of the Janesville Guards, last evening, orders were read for the annual inspection and muster to take place one week from to-morrow. It was decided to have a dance at Cannon's hall in connection with the inspection, the proceeds to be devoted to the paying of the Company's expenses to Atlanta. There are about twenty members of the Guards who express their willingness to take the trip, and as they cannot, of course, give both time and money to the enterprise, it is expected that as many in Rockford so in Janesville will share of the expense will be borne by those who desire to have Janesville represented at that great gathering of the military. The expense will be heavy, but the Guards planned last night to raise the needed amount by entertainments, and by private subscriptions. A number of the citizens have already pledged generous financial aid, and others will doubtless respond no less generously. An Executive Committee was appointed consisting of Lieutenant Glass and Corporals McGowan and Evenson, and with the hearty cooperation of citizens the plans will be crowned with success.

THE WEATHER.

REPORTED BY FLETCHER & EVENSON, DRUGGISTS.

The thermometer at 6 o'clock last night stood at 60 degrees above; at 1 o'clock A. M. today at 48 degrees above; at 7 o'clock A. M. at 52 degrees above and at 1 o'clock P. M. at 60 degrees above. Partly cloudy.

The indications today are for the upper lake region, winds shifting to easterly and southerly, slowly falling barometer, slowly rising temperature, partly cloudy weather, and light local rains.

CARELESS SHOOTING.

Last evening one of Beloit's bright school boys pointed a shot-gun at two girls to scare them. The gun went off and caused serious injury to both girls. One was a daughter of J. M. Cobb. She will lose one eye and her face was badly disfigured. The other girl, a daughter of P. Vassalor, was shot in the side of the face, but not so badly.

HAND OFF.

A young man named Ed. Parker, while engaged in threshing, about two miles from the city, this forenoon, had his hand terribly mangled by its being caught in the gearing of the horse power.

He was brought at once to Dr. Loomis' office where the wounds were cared for. All the fingers were taken off, leaving only the thumb and a portion of the hand.

THE MACK TRIAL.

There was little done in the Mack trial yesterday beyond a rehearsing of the evidence given on the former trial. Dickerson was submitted to a further cross-examination, in which he admitted he had been in the reform school twice for larceny. A. C. Anderson testified that Dickerson rode with him to Beloit, on the day shortly before the murder, when it is alleged Mrs. Mack met Dickerson in Beloit. Kate Lynch, Constable Taylor, Charles H. Lee and Sheriff Colley testified as to the communication kept up between Mrs. Mack and Dickerson while in jail here. At this point the State rested.

The defense opened by producing six witnesses who would not believe Dickerson under oath. William Burton, Elmer Scrivens, Mr. Jacks, Mr. Gould, and Mr. Carpenter, who were at Mack's house the morning after the murder testified as to the condition of the premises.

YE PEAKE FAMILY.

Last evening Lippin's hall was well filled with those eager to greet the Peake family. On the rise of the curtain the family marched in, and "ye wimmen" deposited their band boxes, one upon the other, each box a little smaller until a collar box crowned the peak, and the company made their obeisance and took their seats. All were tall peaked hats, those of the "mennes" being black with a gilt tassel on the peak, and "ye wimmen" wearing white trimmed with black. Peaked cuffs and other peculiarities of dress were noticeable.

Charles Clark, as "Ozma the tyrant," made an excellent director, and created much fun by his peculiar mode of introducing the family, and calling the programme. The other members of the family were Misses Hattie Dearborn, Estella Griswold, Florence London, Vinnie Clark, Fannie Ray, Clara Ormsby, and Messrs. Arthur Conant, Fred Hastings, Seth Cushman, C. N. Vankirk, W. A. Hand, Clarence Clark, Herbert Baker and Homer Rice. Miss Julia Wilson presided at the piano, and did excellently as accompanist.

The programme was spicy, and yet not clownish, and some excellent musical work was done. The choruses were fine indeed. Arthur Conant and Miss London impersonated the old folks, and gave a duet which was worthy of the enthusiastic applause it called forth.

Miss Hattie Dearborn and C. H. Vankirk also gave a most pleasing duet, in which their voices blended sweetly and proved one of the most enjoyable numbers of the evening.

"The Professor at Home," an admirable bit of opera buffa, was given by W. A. Hand, who made an excellent Professor, Miss Hattie Dearborn, Miss Fannie Ray, and Charlie Clark. It called forth much laughter and applause.

One of the most laughable numbers was a round by "Ye wimmen," which pictured the terrible fate of "the three blind mice," and in which there was a dash of weeping, and a flurry of handkerchiefs.

The first part of the programme closed with a tableau representing "Ole who have you been Billy boy, etc." In this Miss Jessie Smith appeared as the little mother, George Clark as "Billy boy," and little Josie Clark as the bride. These tableaux were enthusiastically received, while the scene was described in song by those behind the scenes.

In the closing part of the programme were several excellent choruses by the family, and a male quartet by Messrs. Vankirk, Cushman, Rice and Clarence Clark, which was most sweetly rendered, their voices harmonizing perfectly.

Miss Mack, of Broadhead, was received with enthusiasm, and sang "She that is a Cuckoo." Her voice was so sweet and clear, and her manner so charming that the audience cheered and cheered again, and bestowed upon her floral tributes, and in response to the encore she appeared again, and sang in an even more charming manner, a choice selection from the Italian, Mrs. St. John, playing the accompaniment. Miss Mack has one of the sweetest, clearest sopranoes yet heard in Janesville, and the audience was completely captivated by her singing.

Miss Kunike gave a most pleasing reading, "The Witch's Daughter," which called forth a storm of applause, to which she was obliged to respond with another selection. She fully sustained, and even added to her enviable reputation here as an elocutionist.

The programme closed with a tableau and song by the whole family, who were arranged in a high peak, and sang a round, commencing with the topmost singer and others joining in until all voices were heard. It was descriptive of the noises in a large city, including cries of "fire," "police," "what time does the train go," "curriage, sir," etc., etc., and closing with a verse of "auld lang syne."

As a whole the entertainment was one of the best home productions given here. The music was excellent, the fun was well put in, the costumes becoming, and the audience was from the first to the last kept in the best of humor.

RALLY AT ORFORDVILLE.

There was a rousing and enthusiastic Republican rally at Orfordville last Tuesday evening. The Garfield and Arthur Club were out in full uniform, and with torches, and made a parade, anvils were fired, cheers given, and a general "hurrah time" indulged in. The church where the speaking was done was crowded to overflowing, there being fully five hundred people there. James Mow was chosen President, and H. L. Seavlem Secretary. Darius Allen delivered an enthusiastic speech. It was one of the most successful meetings ever held there.

SPRAGUE'S MINSTRELS.

To-morrow evening Sprague's Georgia minstrels will appear at the Opera house. They appeared in Milwaukee last Tuesday evening, and yesterday's Sentinel speaking of the entertainment says:

Sprague's Georgia minstrels attracted a full house at the Academy last evening and held the attention of the audience remarkably well. There is something in negro melody which pertains to no other class of singing, and when it is rendered by negro voices the charm is all that it is capable of being. The comic songs and choruses last night were full of rhythm and jingle. Mr. A. Watts sang his ballad in a peculiarly sweet and musical voice. Few male voices can boast of such clearness. Billy Speed is perhaps the most prominent attraction. He has a much like that of the Amazon, and there is a good deal of ability and melody about him besides. His songs brought down the house repeatedly. Judge Cusoe delivered a lecture on Education full of telling points and about as sensible as lectures on that subject sometimes are. The eloquent denunciation of the colored man's lot was very good and deserved to be commended.

PERSONAL.

—Miss Minnie Ross is very low indeed, this afternoon, and there seems little hope of her surviving the day.

—Rev. J. Berger, pastor of the German Methodist church, at Ft. Atkinson, was in the city yesterday, looking over the field to see if there were enough German Methodists in this part of the State to form organizations.

—Major A. N. Nicholls, of Rockford, is in the city with a view to make arrangements to run an excursion train from Janesville to Rockford next Tuesday, to carry all persons who wish to hear Colonel "Bob" Ingersoll, who will speak in that city on that day. The fare for the round trip will be only $1.25.

She banged her hair in the latest style, And wore a dress of black, And a pair of light ten-buttoned kids, And a long brown seal skin sash; But spite of all her blood wasn't pure, She ought to try the Spring Blossom Cure.
